2020 has been designated the Year of the Nurse and Midwife by the World Health Organization (WHO). Here are 6 reasons why 2020 is Year of the Nurse

1. It’s the 200th anniversary of Florence Nightingale’s birth.
2. It’s the release of the first State of the World’s Nursing Report.
3. It’s the culmination of the Nursing Now campaign.
4. Nurses make up a majority of the worldwide healthcare force.
5. Nurses are a huge part of the health care worker shortfall.
6. Supporting nurses boosts economic growth and gender equality.
