Location: Halifax City

Dalhousie is a leading, research-intensive Canadian university offering a wealth of programs through diverse faculties. With campuses located in Halifax and Truro, Nova Scotia, as well as a Medical School site in Saint John, New Brunswick, Dalhousie has more than 6,000 faculty and staff who make up the university's energetic academic community. Dalhousie is proud to be named one of Canada's Top 100 Employers for 2012 and 2013.

Reporting to the Vice President, Finance and Administration, the University's first Assistant Vice President, Capital Construction will be responsible for leadership and management of the University's significant capital construction project portfolio. You will steward and manage some $60m+ annually in projects ranging from demolition of existing buildings or infrastructure, new construction, building additions, renovation or renewal of existing facilities or infrastructure. Working with your team and contracted project managers, you will ensure that projects are delivered on scope, on time and on budget. Providing proactive advice to the University and the Capital Projects and Facilities Committee of the Board, you will help to optimize the University's multi-million dollar investments in real estate and property assets.

An experienced construction project manager with a university degree in a related field, you bring the foundation to lead this significant portfolio. Your excellent project management skills, sound knowledge of design, construction, planning and the construction industry, and your strategic and business acumen equip you to provide the leadership and advice that will ensure that Dalhousie's physical assets support its ambitious vision for research, teaching and University life. Dalhousie University is an Employment Equity/Affirmative Action employer. The University encourages applications from qualified Aboriginal people, persons with disability, racially visible persons, and women.
