

Dr. Zwicker

Dr. Zwicker is a Graduate of Dalhousie University and Assistant Professor. She has been an Endocrinologist in Sydney for the last couple of decades and would like to think she is now better at listening to patients and has learned a great deal from them over the years. She still works to keep up on the changes in treatment. She misses the travel of the pre-COVID days and is hoping to dip her feet back into those waters. She is a parent of a university student and enjoys being outside and at the barn with her horse. She is happy to get to speak with you all at the upcoming conference.
