2019 Edition

Welcome!

Dear Colleague,

Welcome to the teaching profession and to membership in the Nova Scotia Teachers Union. New beginnings in teaching are full of hope, promise and passion. I hope you embrace these as essential ingredients in your journey. I believe you will find great teachers, no matter the stage of their career, exemplify these qualities which fuel the persistence necessary to thrive in what we do.

It takes time to establish your practice as a teacher. Whether you are a recent graduate or re-establishing yourself in a new location, I encourage you to adopt the posture of a willing learner. Our work is demanding and challenging, and it's normal and desirable to seek out support and advice in order to flourish. Effective teachers grow through collaboration, and I urge you to find the helpers in your school and within the NSTU that feed your passion and sharpen your craft.

The enclosed booklet is intended to support you with information, advice and access to resources.

The Nova Scotia Teachers Union (NSTU) is your professional organization. We represent you at both the Regional Centre and Department Levels. You can find support through your school representative, your local president, regional chairperson, NSTU Staff and me. All of us are available to you if you have questions or experience difficulties regarding your employment or professional life. We are also here to stand with you when your personal life spills into your professional life, it is at these times we hope you will embrace the open hand the NSTU offers and find the support and resources you may need to thrive.

Our union finds its strength in the engagement of members like you. I urge you to consider involvement in a facet of the NSTU that feeds your passion: as a school rep, serving on your local executive or regional council, contributing to a professional association, local or provincial committee. I encourage you to forge relationships with others engaged with the NSTU as a key piece of learning about your rights, conditions of employment and opportunities to lead within your union and profession.

The only authority or influence I have as a president comes from the engagement members like you exercise in solidarity with your NSTU siblings. Never dismiss the strength you have as an individual member. I encourage you to embrace the power you hold from the outset.

Please accept my finest wishes and solidarity in these beginning moments of teaching in Nova Scotia. May you find joy and satisfaction on the way to changing many lives!

PAUL WOZNEY
President, Nova Scotia Teachers Union

Programs & Services

Professional Learning Supports

The NSTU has a number of programs and initiatives designed to support your professional development.

Member Services

Information is provided by Member Services staff on contractual rights/benefits, pension and insurance plans.

NSTU Counselling Services

High quality short-term counselling is provided to members at no cost. For detailed information call 1-800-565-6788 or locally at 477-5621.

Early Intervention Program

The Early Intervention Program for Teachers is a voluntary program available to all NSTU members who are injured or ill and are seeking support or assistance in managing their health, returning to work or applying for disability benefits. For more information, or to speak with one of the Occupational Therapists, please call 1-800-565-6788, local 477-5621, or email eip@nstu.ca.

Resilience – EFAP/Employee and Family Assistance Program

In addition to the internal Counselling Services program, members can access services through Resilience- EFAP/Employee and Family Assistance Program offered by the NSTU Group Insurance Trustees.

Teachers Plus Credit Union

Teachers Plus Credit Union is a full-service financial institution that is owned by you and your fellow members—the teachers of Nova Scotia and their families. We offer all the same services as banks and other credit unions, but with a special focus on teachers. Because of this, we can cater specifically to your needs. You can also access your account through more than 60 ABMs province-wide (more than any other financial institution), at any credit union in Atlantic Canada, or through online or telephone banking. Visit our website at www.teachersplus.ca to find out about our mortgages, investments, chequing and savings accounts, interest rebates, and more. Call us at 1-800-565-3103 or e-mail us at info@teachersplus.ca if you have any questions, or visit us at 36 Brookshire Court in Bedford.

Johnson Inc.

A comprehensive insurance plan is provided for all permanent, probationary and term teachers. For further information call 1-800-453-9543 or locally at 453-9543.

Get Involved

You have a role to play in your professional organization. It's never too early, or too late, to get involved in the work of the Nova Scotia Teachers Union. There are so many different areas in which you can become involved and, contrary to some stories, there is no expectation that you will never see another Saturday of your own! Whether your interests lie in curriculum, collective bargaining, professional development, or workplace safety and health, there is a place for you to get involved. As a bonus, you will also become part of a network of professionals which will benefit you immensely as you pursue your teaching career. Take the time to get to know the NSTU!

Structure Details

I Provincial Executive

The Provincial Executive is elected from across the province to represent NSTU members. They meet monthly and direct the business of the Union between Councils. A list of Provincial Executive members can be found in the Member Diary.

II Local Executive

This executive is made up of members elected from the Local. The Local Executive is a committee of the Provincial Executive and conducts the business of the local.

III NSTU Reps in Local

Each school / campus has one or more union representative. Reps provide the essential connection between the provincial body, the Local, and the individual member.

IV Regional Representative Council (RRC)

The RRC represents the bargaining unit and deals directly with the Regional Centres for Education in the public school system. CSANE does not have an RRC.

A list of Local Executive and NSTU reps can be obtained from your Local President.
